DETAILED ACTION

1. The examiner would like to note that the amendment should use a consistent method of amending the claims (the applicant should use either strikethrough or bracket method but not both). Also, the amendment should not be double bracketed. The applicant has included the term "part" at the end of claim 7, which it appears the applicant was trying to remove.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 7 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by German Publication DE 198 14 304.4.

German Publication DE 198 14 304.4 discloses an electromagnetic valve (10 Teile) having a magnet armature, a magnet core member, a valve housing with a valve coil and accommodates a valve closure member and a valve seat, wherein the valve housing has a one-piece sleeve (ferrit. Band) fabricated from a unitary piece of material having a uniform cross-section throughout and the one-piece sleeve includes a sidewall portion extending from a generally continuous bottom portion, wherein said bottom portion directly contacts and receives the valve seat and wherein the one piece sleeve has a stepped portion that accommodates a ring filter and a retaining collar (rostfreies ferrit. Band) and the one-piece sleeve part are fixedly attached. The retaining collar being formed by being deepdrawn is a product by process. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in the product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product in the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product was made by a different process (see MPEP 2113). The armature is a stepped piston and is between the valve seat and the core.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed November 3, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's argument is that the sleeve ends at collar 17. This does not make sense to the examiner. The sleeve clearly ends at the valve seat, which is seen to be a generally continuous bottom portion. Also, the one piece sleeve has a stepped portion which accommodates a ring filter as shown in (10 Teile). The retaining collar is fixedly attached to the one-piece sleeve part and therefore the final product is completely disclosed in German Publication DE 198 14 304.4.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37

CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
